

ANJEL CONNAL

HONEYMOON / TRAVEL GIFTS

We've been asked by several people what our honeymoon plans are, and whether we've registered with any vacation registry services.

About a week after the wedding (May 18th), we will be leaving for New York where we will be attending the New York Stationery Show (business related) and then stretching the trip out into a New York honeymoon (with a quick trip over to Washington DC to visit the Smithsonian and a few other museums, before we fly back on the 28th).

We both lived in Manhattan for several years, but didn't know each other at the time, so we're looking forward to spending some time in the City together for the first time.

We didn't register with any vacation services, because they're usually part of tours or packages, and figuring out what to do in the city isn't going to be a problem, we just need to figure out where to stay.

Though we haven't set up anything official, we would be thrilled to receive any contributions towards our time spent in NYC and will happily guarantee that any gifts earmarked for New York will be enjoyed during our time there.
